COVID-19 Operation Prevention Plan

Prepared with: Perrotta Consulting

PATH TO REOPENING

The COVID-19 Global Pandemic has caused disastrous public health and economic effects throughout the United States and the world. Skudin Surf is one of the few organizations that has successfully operated and adapted since the onset of the pandemic. Skudin Surf has operated out of several different locations in New York City and Long Island all summer without any instances of staff or clients becoming infected with COVID-19. Skudin Surf at American Dream will be able to operate in compliance with New Jersey executive orders and provide the highest standard of health and safety to our staff and clients because:

- » Surfing involves social distancing as a safety necessity.
- » Social distancing signage will be placed outside of the water and social distance guidance will be strictly adhered to at all times.
- » Daily health screenings and temperature checks of all staff members and clients will be mandated.
- » Advanced reservations for surfing times will be mandated.
- » All high contact surface will undergo frequent and logged disinfection procedures.
- » Maximum occupancy will never exceed 25%.
- » Masks will be required at all times while surfers and staff are outside of the water.
- » Hand sanitizing stations will be easily accessible for individuals outside of the water.
- » Staff will be fully trained in safe COVID-19 operating procedures.
- » Group reservations will be limited to no more than 20.

The State of New Jersey has outlined guidance for operating indoor pool facilities and aquatic recreation facilities and this guidance will be adhered to at all times. The safe operations of Skudin Surf at American Dream is dependent not only on this written operating plan, but also on the commitment of the Skudin Surf staff to our new policies and procedures, which have a proven and effective track record. Our staff will be trained in effective implementation of this plan and all relevant information will be conveyed to our clients via email prior to entering Skudin Surf at American Dream. The successful operation of Skudin Surf at American Dream will be dependent on our united commitment to safety as well as individual responsibility on behalf of every staff member and client. Together with our partners at American Dream and Perrotta Consulting we will create a controlled environment that is safer than any other indoor venue that has already been permitted to reopen.

There is no evidence that the virus that causes COVID-19 can be spread to people through the water in pools, hot tubs, spas, or water play areas. Proper operation and maintenance (including disinfection with chlorine and bromine) of these facilities should inactivate the virus in the water.

Individual and Evolving Approach:

COVID-19 cannot be controlled or mitigated purely by written documents, procedures or technologies, it requires an individual effort on behalf of every surfer and staff member at Skudin Surf American Dream. Most importantly for safe operations this summer, individuals must notify management if they are not feeling well and stay home if they suspect illness.

Surfers: will be asked to stay home if they do not feel well and have all of our COVID-19 policies and procedures communicated to them prior to entering the facility. Anyone not respecting our new policies will be immediately asked to leave.

Staff: will be trained and certified by Perrotta Consulting in COVID-19 operating procedures. All staff will be asked to stay home if they do not feel well and there will be a zero tolerance for breaking our new protocols.

Structuring and Training:

Overview: A COVID-19 Manager positions has been created as an added responsibility of an existing staff member to oversee the successful implementation of this operating plan. Staff has been trained in COVID-19 and developed cleaning procedures to be followed. A threat mitigation and emergency management company is kept on call to continue advising as changes in pandemic conditions and government guidelines continue into the future. Accountability and communication between staff already exists and this same structure will be used to combat COVID-19. Standards will be reevaluated on at the highest standard possible and meeting our new public health obligation.

SAFETY GUIDELINES

Procedures and Actions:

- » Implement all CDC Guidelines
- » Coach to student maintain social distancing and wear face coverings before and after entering the pool
- » Arrive early enough to review guidelines with the lifeguards and coaches
- » A participant list, disclaimers and contact phone numbers need to be recorded at the start of the session
- » Allocate appropriate surfboard to each participant and will be sanitized before and after surfing
- » Each participant will be given wrist band to wear during the session
- » Ensure there is a first aid kit, a whistle, a mobile phone and that EAP is set
- » Each lesson should include a surf safety talk that covers the wave settings and possible hazards
- » Goals of the session need to be clearly stated before entering the water
- » Ensure enough distance separates each group during transitions

- » Structure group so there is constant vision of every participant
- » Instruct participants to follow the philosophy of one person per wave during advanced settings, if whitewater waves multiple surfers on one wave 6 feet apart going straight.
- » Direct participants to allow a safe distance between each other to avoid collisions
- » Participants need to be positioned to enable them to view the demonstration with social distance
- » Teaching methodology: explanation – demonstration – participation – feedback
- » Use cues to emphasize important parts of the skill
- » At the completion of the session regroup, check numbers, review and dismiss the group as one as all adhere to social distancing
- » Any accidents, even minor ones must be reported immediately to the head coach / lifeguard and recorded on a accident report

DUTY OF CARE

The coach/instructors have a legal and moral responsibility (Duty of Care) to ensure the safety and well being of the surfer in their care. To facilitate an effective, enjoyable learning experience for the beginner surfer, safety must be the first consideration.

Refers to the legal obligations and responsibilities of the coach:

- » To ensure the safety of the surfers in your care the coach needs to understand the current legislation and put in place strategies and procedures to identify and minimize risks
- » Plan activities to suit the needs of the individual surfers
- » Clear written rules for activities and general conduct
- » A safe environment for all participants
- » Assess surfers capabilities

Warn surfers of the inherent risks of the sport:

- » Evaluate surfers for injury, medical conditions, level of experience and disabilities - e.g. deafness
- » Develop management strategies before participant enters the water
- » Supervise activities closely at all times
- » Ensure you are up to date and competent in first-aid, rescue and resuscitation techniques
- » Provide safe and appropriate equipment
- » Keep adequate records (registration forms, accident report forms, lesson plans)

9. Emergency action plan & isolation location /
10. Signage.

The safety of all participants and staff continues to remain the top priority of Skudin Surf at American Dream. Skudin Surf has taken every possible measure to provide the safest possible environment for staff and surfers. We benefit from the studies and information from the CDC indicating that there is zero evidence of COVID-19 transmission in water and having a large well ventilated open area to operate in. Surfing is an inherently low risk activity for COVID-19 and one of the only safe opportunities right now for anyone, and especially the most vulnerable individuals. Skudin Surf American Dream has implemented procedural and physical changes to meet the new public health obligation, and is prioritizing the safety of employees and customers above anything else. This plan was developed based on CDC guidelines, guidance issued by the State of New Jersey and modeled based on Department of Homeland Security emergency management structures.

Surfing is also an effective treatment for PTSD, anxiety, depression, and many other forms of mental health and we would be failing individuals suffering from these afflictions by not opening when we can do so safely. The wave pool is uniquely different than the waterpark venue itself which cannot be easily controlled or restricted. The wave pool has far less high contact surfaces and we can limit group sizes and occupancy well below our 25% threshold. Many indoor venues such as schools and gyms will be permitted to reopen in New Jersey after developing safe operating plans and meeting state guidelines. Not only have we done this, but we have an existing record of success. Skudin Surf has months of successful and safe experience operating with COVID-19 protocols and we can provide a safe and controlled environment for all participants. We will continue adapting and evolving to meet the public health and safety demands we now face and never become complacent in our mission to provide the safest possible surfing experience.

ABOUT SKUDIN SURF

The Skudin family has been teaching surfing for over 30 years and excited to extend their knowledge to the American Dream Indoor Wave Pool. Parents Dave and Beth Skudin surfed together as children in the 60's with Beth's dad Dick Bolton. They continued Beth's fathers tradition and shared their love of the sport with their four boys. The family comes from a heritage of lifeguards, swimmers, and surfing champions. Dave and Beth raised their children in some of the most famous surf spots in the country, and have lived in Hawaii, the Outer Banks of North Carolina, and Long Beach, New York.

Today, two of the Skudin sons – Cliff and Will – continue their families' tradition of teaching others the joy of surfing.
